Last week we were over in Levi Jackson State park at London, Ky., looking through a lot of early-day Kentucky household equipment housed in a rustic museum there, and ran into this interesting little story in connection with it:

A visiting preacher from the nearby mountainside area had looked through the place last year, spending a lot of time examining all of the old pioneer relics including a well-preserved and supposedly complete copper still. When he was on the point of departing he edged over to the park director, standing nearby. "It's none of my business," he said, "but you see that still over there? You have it hooked up exactly backwards from the way it is supposed to operate."

After demonstrating the proper hook-up, he hastened to explain that back in his younger days, before he reformed, he had turned out some of the biggest volume production of mountain moonshine in that part of the state.

Practically everyone who has spent as much as a day around Kentucky Dam State Park, either for meals or for an overnight stay, has run into the genial, hard-working manager, Bill Knight. Bill has made the area his own personal "baby" and the excellence of the food, as well as the attractiveness of the cabins and other accommodations all attest to the fact that he has done an outstanding job in this, the greatest park in the Kentucky system.

Bill has been promoted this week... to Assistant director of the State Division, with headquarters in Frankfort. We hope his successor at the Village concentrates on it as heavily as Bill did, especially on the restaurant, whose food has been excellent.

From now until election time we're going to let you in on some good-natured feuding between ourselves and C. M. Browder of Duncan, Oklahoma. We met Charlie when he visited his brother, Gussie on Labor Day and we talked politics. Charlie is for Ike and we're for... I need a tell you. Had a note and some clippings from him today showing the fact that $24,000.00 were on deposit in their bank there and that seven and a half million dollars were paid annually to royalty owners (oil). His local paper is the Duncan Daily Banner and a fine little sheet. He also sent a copy of the Daily Oklahoman, which contains among other things, a story about Ike and the Frank Carters, the grand old folks of Oklahoma. His note said, with tongue in cheek, and a sheepish grin:

Dear Mrs. Westpheling: I can spell your name now since receiving my paper containing the nice write-up of my brother.

I am sending you some clippings. Note the Frank Carter one, one of the Oklahoma's grand old men and especially the last paragraph on Page 2. (Said something about Ike and how good he was...)

From our Banner you can see what helps the "Okies" when crops fail. Wish we had you folks to run one of our papers. We have a daily and a weekly. Sincerely, C. M. Browder.

And on the national scene Capt. Tom Gibson sends this one:

National Aid
The Missoula Times edited by C. J. Doherty gives the most complete definition of government aid and it is possible, that even our own local representatives in the Legislature can comprehend it. It reads "We raise our taxes to send money to Washington, then we raise some more taxes to match the amount we have already sent to Washington, in order to get back part of the amount we originally sent. This is government aid."

From Dorothy Bunker, the traveling writer who visited us this summer we had a note giving her views of the Washington folks. She is presently in the Nation's Capitol. She says:

You can tell where I am now, in the city of wind bags and skittlemut spitters. To explain. Once upon a time I found my three year old nephew bent over a board that was resting on the ground at an angle. When I asked, "what are you doing?" He said—seriously, "I'm spitting on skittlemuts to make them slide down this board. I call them skittlemuts because I don't know what kind of bugs they are."

LOCAL PILOT TOPS GRADUATING CLASS

Jim James Honored At Texas Airfield

Winning the silver wings of a jet pilot is just no ordinary feat. And graduating as "No. 1 man" in a class of 93 newly commissioned flyers is an accomplishment that any pilot could well be proud of.

Second Lt. James K. James is the recipient of both titles. He graduated from the basic jet pilot school at Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring, Texas, on September 13. And proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. James were on hand to see their son receive his wings.

Along with his title of "honor graduate" came a Regular Commission in the U. S. Air Force. Lt. James also received an engraved cigarette case and identification bracelet as a remembrance of the occasion.

For Lt. James it was the old story of following, or flying, in big brother's footsteps. Captain George T. James, Jr., now attached with the Air Material Command at Wright-Patterson AFB in Dayton, was a flyer in World War II. So, it was natural that the younger James get a stimulant for soaring in the wild blue yonder. Brother George was also present for his younger brother's big moment.

A third brother, Joe, is a cadet at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

Lt. James graduated from Fulton High School and received his A. B. degree from Murray State in 1951. He receives a well-earned 30-day leave before reporting for gunnery and advanced combat tactics in jet aircraft.

He and his parents live at 214 Second Street in Fulton.

DON'T ASK FOR PINK ELEPHANT AT BIG COUNTRY STORE: EDWARDS MAY HAVE IT

Wayne Edwards Has Been in Water Valley 56 Years; Held First Speech of Barkley

The Toast Master says, "We have with us tonight," and he goes on extolling his virtues, being very careful to forget his vices and gives him a build-up that makes him outshadow all the birds that you can call to mind since you were knee high to a peck of oats. Then he busts out with the name of that wonderful guy—"Edwards may have it!" Wayne T. Edwards. Then you sit back relieved to know that it was one that has been in our midst for the past FIFTY SIX years.

And the slogan means just what it says. And don't think that you can kid Wayne by asking for a pink elephant or you may have that same animal on your hands. A darned needle the same way.

Wayne was "dragged up" two miles east of Water Valley and when that goal of most kids, 21 years old turned him into a man, he immigrated to Water Valley which at that time was the big trading center. He went to work for his uncle Porter Weeks who had a dry goods store. Porter Weeks was the daddy of Leslie and Louis Weeks who now carry on the tradition of the Weeks' Clan in Fulton.

In 1893 the block burned that included Porter Weeks' store and he did not get any insurance from it. So Porter went out and worked on his farm for a couple of years and Wayne went to work

ANY GRAHAMS OR VAUGHNS AROUND? PAPER SEEKS HEIRS TO 80-ACRE ARK. FARM

A. M. Vaughn Bought Farm From J. F. Graham; Dies in Arkansas With No Known Relatives

August 4, 1952.

Here in West Kentucky where the family names of Graham and Vaughn are seen fairly frequently the story found in a Marks (Miss.) newspaper is believed to be especially interesting. Mr. Henry Burns, the editor of the paper through his column, The Quitman-Quill, is seeking the lawful heirs of one A. M. Vaughn, who farmed part of the Lombardy place at Birdie, Miss., in Quitman County. The story reprinted below is self-explanatory and may be the solution to finding the heir to Mr. Vaughn's estate.

Someone in the Fulton area may inherit the farm if they can properly identify themselves to the lawyers.

The story follows:

Anyone knowing of the whereabouts of any heirs or descendants of one A. M. Vaughn, who farmed part of the Lombardy place at Birdie, now owned by the J. B. Lollar estate, but then known as the Graham estate, back in 1916, is asked to get in touch with Sheriff Kimbro or Deputy Sheriff Brown.

Mr. Vaughn died at Monroe, Ark., August 4th, and his estate consisting of 80 acres of good land and some personal property will go to the State of Arkansas unless some heirs are located.

The sheriff's office first learned of the unusual circumstances thru the following letter.

Campaign Opens On Sept. 25th At Shelbyville

The Democratic campaign in Kentucky will open formally in Shelbyville, September 25.

Senator Underwood, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate, will speak, Clyde Watson, Democratic state-campaign chairman, said yesterday.

The meeting will start at 8 p. m. and Underwood's talk will be broadcast from 8:30 to 9 p. m.

Underwood has said he will give in his speech his own observations and conclusions "as to what will happen in the event the Republicans are victorious and in the event of a Democratic victory."

This will be the third straight year the Democrats have opened their campaign in Shelbyville, a good city in which to draw a Democratic crowd because it is close to both Louisville and Frankfort.

It also is regarded as a lucky place by Democrats because it was there Senator Clements opened his successful campaign in 1950 and there that Governor Wetherby began his winning campaign in 1951.

Underwood will be introduced by Wetherby. The master of ceremonies will be Shelbyville's Mayor Robert F. Matthews, who also is Democratic state-campaign finance chairman.

Underwood's Republican opponent, former Senator John Sherman Cooper, opened his campaign in Lexington Saturday.

Both Underwood and Cooper are to speak before the Men's Club of Temple Adath Israel at the temple at 8 tonight. The public is invited. Underwood also is to talk to the Kentucky Association of Real Estate Boards at the Kentucky Hotel at 2:30 p. m. today.

Now Is The Time for All Good Citizens To Come to The Aid Of The City Park Project

Last week we reported two things in the News that we would like to expand upon this week. One was the cost of the proposed municipal park under advisement by the City Council and the other was a statement that Paul Durbin made when he was home recently. He said: "Whatever Fulton gets behind wholeheartedly it accomplishes with flying colors."

Both statements are important because in this instance they both are to be considered together in the issue of the municipal park project.

Russell and Axom, the engineers hired by the city to do a survey on the park project estimated that the cost of a modern all purpose park would cost between $157,000 and $214,500. There's a variance of $57,500 in the estimated costs because of the ever increasing cost of materials and supplies. We hope though that the expenses will not rise above the larger figure.

The problem that concerns us at the moment is WHETHER OR NOT THE PEOPLE OF FULTON WILL GET BEHIND THE PROJECT AND SEE IT THROUGH.

Obviously the City Administration cannot assume that indebtedness out of our general funds. No city the size of this one could. Hardly a city of even larger size could do it, so that leaves the popular alternative of floating a bond issue to finance the project. The issue of course would be a revenue producing one, with possibly a small tax increase to fill in for the payments not secured by the revenue from the various facilities of the park.

There are many sides to this park project and from where we're sitting they are all good. Foremost in our thoughts is the establishment of a new ball park grandstand. With our team leading the league and winning the pennant for the past two years, we know that baseball officials must have felt some embarrassment in staging the games in old, dilapidated Fairfield Park. A new ball park is badly needed. Understand the Baseball Association cannot afford to build one on their own. But they certainly can help.

In another view we see dozens of parents and teen-agers driving to Union City during the summer months to take advantage of the lovely municipal pool there. Those mothers and children did not relish that ride over and back and hoped more than anything that some day Fulton could have a pool. Now the opportunity is here and those who wished so hard, should work equally as hard to see the pool built.

And still in another light we see the great advantages to this city's characteristics as far as attracting industry are concerned. We have been told on numerous occasions that one of the first items a large industry looks for in a town is its recreational facilities. Our column in that respect was always blank. We've often felt that the lack of playgrounds, etc., was the most discouraging factor in a prospective industry site-seeker. Now we have the opportunity to chalk up a good credit in that column.

No doubt many of you who read last week's paper are staggering at the proposed cost, but take a look at the communities around you and estimate in your mind the millions they must have spent to improve and add to their physical characteristics.

We called on dozens of persons asking their views on a proposed park for Fulton. Without exception those persons were heartily in favor of the idea and thought something should be done. The City Fathers took that poll as an indication of great enthusiasm among all the citizens, and mostly the baseball fans, and now is the time to show up what we took up. All local clubs are asked to appoint a member of their group to serve on the Citizen's Park Committee. This should be done at once. Then, when a general citizens meeting is called be sure you are there to either sanction or condemn the issue.

But whatever you do, take an interest in the proposed municipal park.

Does Gift Receiving Mean There's Intrigue?

The other day Gussie Browder brought us some good ole apple cider. On another occasion Royce Jolley brought us some peaches. Judge Stahr gave us pecans, and on and on. The gifts were sincerely appreciated by us; the thought was heart-felt on the part of the giver, and nothing was asked by them. Just a token of their friendship.

We bring this up to contemplate the cigarette lighter that Lamar Caudle, disposed Justice Department chief brought to President Truman from Italy.

Our first thought is SO WHAT? Mr. Truman was his boss, he was grateful for the job, so he saw a nice gift and brought it to him. Later Mr. Truman found the necessity to fire him because of alleged malpractice in his office. Should Mr. Truman have kept him on account of the lighter, or does Mr. Caudle want his lighter back.

The whole thing is ridiculous. Frankly we think the newspapers are making too darned much noise about this gift-giving and receiving. Certainly some mink coat givers smelled a little like skunks, and the deep freeze givers have gotten the cold shoulder, but does that make every gift received by a public official tainted.

Four years ago we took a Kentucky cured ham to Mr. Truman. To our certain knowledge neither the giver, the late J. B. McGehee, or the deliverer, ever asked or received anything from Mr. Truman. Does that make us devious crooks with patronage aforethought or are we still expecting the price of hogs to decrease?

Everybody is in fever heat about the "mess in Washington." They intend to clean it up by changing the Federal administration. If that interest brings people to the polls and creates an interest in clean Government then we're for it 100%. But somehow we keep remembering the Teapot Dome scandal, the bread lines of 1931, the stock market crash of 1929, the employment rolls of 1930, 1931 and a few other "advantages" that would come from changing this Administration, and getting rid of those dad-blamed gift getters.

Oberlin's Observations

In any major election there are several occasions when a combination of events can decide the final result. We had one of these crucial times on Tuesday, Sept. 9th. On that day Dwight Eisenhower might easily have won the election.

But the result probably still is much in doubt (only learned historical analysts years from now will have the perspective to decide just when we voters really made up our minds) because one event was in Eisenhower's favor, and the other against him. If both had favored Ike it would have been different.

The first of these two happenings was the Democratic State Convention in Texas. For legal, ethical and moral reasons, that convention reluctantly put Adlai Stevenson and John Sparksman at the top of the Democratic ballot in the Lone Star state.

That same convention, though, warmly and enthusiastically, endorsed the candidacy of Eisenhower and Nixon.

Ike went into the Wisconsin primary needing only the defeat of Senator Jolting Joe McCarthy to have a really good day.

But McCarthy won. Had he lost, the Democrats would have been deprived of one of their major campaign issues. Losing candidate Leonard Schmitt summarized this campaign issue very neatly in his message conceding defeat.

He said the result was appalling. Not because he, Schmitt, had lost, but because "... a man with the most corrupt record ever made by a Wisconsin senator is overwhelmingly endorsed by

INFLATION AND FREE ENTERPRISE

Down through the pages of history we find case after case where great nations have been ravaged by the disease of inflation. They always start the same way and end the same way. It is always government produced. It originates with the profligate government spending and a wasteful expenditure of the nation's resources.

The disease strikes when the government is no longer able to meet the prodigal expenditures. In an effort to stave this off, the government levies confiscatory and ruinous taxes up on its most productive citizens; and what taxes can no longer meet the revenue, they do two things — Debase the currency and issue more and more printing press money.

(You will remember that a few years ago Roosevelt debased our gold; and since, we have had an increase of billions of dollars worth of printing press money.)

The money supply is suddenly increased but there is no increase of goods or services that the people wish to buy with that money. So the price of everything on the market goes up. As it does, the people demand more and more for whatever they have to sell — be it their labor, their products or services.

The government, too, is soon caught in this spiral, which it started and its own expenses and deficits grow. So it resorts to more inflation, prints more money and raises taxes a little higher, if possible.

Does this paint a picture for you of what is going on today?

WHAT I HEARD

Was in St. Louis the other day and a fellow was coming back through the gate, puffing and blowing. A man standing near said "did you miss your train?" The fellow stopped and caught his breath for a second and then replied, "No—I was just chasing it out from underneath the shed."

Savings like this

Machines like this enable Southern Bell to salvage about three million feet of copper wire a year by splicing left-over lengths together and re-insulating the joints.

MEAN SAVINGS ALL ALONG THE LINE

Saving every usable bit of wire, each pound of lead, aluminum and steel that can be salvaged for re-use, is just one of many ways Southern Bell keeps down the cost of telephone service.

Mr. Hogan and Mrs. McClellan Are Wed
In Quiet Ceremony On Sunday, Sept. 14th.

Of wide-spread interest in Fulton and the Mid-South where both the bride and groom are popular and well known is the announcement made today by Mrs. Purlee McClellan and Mr. J. R. (Happy) Hogan of their marriage. The vows were pledged in Corinth, Miss., on Sunday, September 14, at nine thirty in the morning.

Scene of the marriage was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Curry with Rev. L. D. Hill, pastor of the First Methodist Church reading the wedding vows. A small group of relatives and intimate friends of the couple were in attendance.

Mrs. Charles Thomas of Union City attended her mother as matron of honor, and Jimmy Hogan of Union City served his father as best man.

The bride wore a Koret of California two-piece model of blue velvet, featuring a tight-fitting bodice with self covered buttons down the front. She wore a rhinestone necklace and earrings, and her hat of dusty pink felt featured shell trim. Her corsage was an orchid.

Mrs. Thomas wore a dress of wine taffeta, with accessories of blue. She wore a pink gladioli corsage.

Following the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, formerly of this city, were hosts to a breakfast for the wedding party and guests at the Magnolia Room of the New Waldron Hotel. The table held a beautiful arrangement of flowers, flanked by lighted candles, and a tasty menu was served.

Attending the breakfast were: Mr. and Mrs. Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, Jimmy and Don Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Wraith of Union City, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Curry, Miss Dorothy Mae Barton, Miss Virginia North and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Ford.

After a wedding trip to the Smokies, Mr. and Mrs. Hogan will be at home at 504 Eddings Street, Fulton.

VICTORY HOMEMAKERS
MEET TUESDAY AT COMMUNITY HOUSE

The Victory Homemakers met Tuesday afternoon at the Palestine Community House. Hostesses, Mrs. Raymond Harrison and Mrs. Harold Williamson welcomed the members and one visitor, Mrs. Clifton Linton, and one new member, Mrs. Ben Davis.

The president, Mrs. T. R. Williams, announced that the Annual meeting would be held October 15, at the First Methodist Church in Hickman. The ladies of the church will serve dinner for $1.00 per plate, and all plates must be reserved.

Mrs. E. L. Cooke presented a very interesting report on "Style Trends". She said that women cannot begin to describe the variety, beauty, and interest of fabrics for fall. We will see more of the new synthetic fibers, such as orlon, dacron, dynel, nylon, acrilan, vicara, and other. These fabrics have many marvelous qualities but Mrs. Cooke warned that most of them have extremely low melting points and great care should be taken in pressing them.

Changes in the silhouette are not too marked with the swing toward a more softly curved line. Lengths remain about the same, mid-calf, with slightly longer lengths favored.

Mrs. Cooke advised, "Never wear a style just because it is in fashion. Choose the line and color most flattering to you."

"MIND YOUR MANNERS"

A long bus trip this summer gave me many chances to watch the customs of people. In general, I must say, our American people are pretty nice folks. In spite of having to change busses at all hours of the night, to wait patiently to be served in rushed restaurants, to take one's turn at wash basins, and to be transferred from one place to another at the last minute, most people took it all in a good spirit, frequently with good humor that was contagious. A pretty good cross section of America, except the very rich and the very poor, can be seen on a transcontinental bus.

This trip, however, confirmed me in a belief that has been growing for some time: that women, in gaining their so-called freedom, sometimes have forgotten their manners. The rudest of manners I found were those of women, for in no instance did I see a big man elbow his way through a crowd of women to get his chosen place. Unfortunately, however, I did see several women—not young ones, either—use all the bad manners that could be imagined in a bus station or when the busses were being loaded. I fear my students will get lectured several times on the strength of this experience.

I am still an old-fashioned man in a great many ways; I still cannot sit still when a lady is standing in the aisle of a bus or train. And I am glad to say that the ladies whom I offered my seat were very gracious in thanking me, both when they accepted the seat and when they returned it to me at the end of their journey. Frankly, I found that women travellers are more courteous to men than to other women.

It is altogether possible that I am an outmoded old codger, that I recall too vividly the courtesies of other times, even at remote fidelity. However, I like to think that there was something fine in believing that women should receive more courteous treatment than men. And most men that I know are of the same opinion. Even the youngsters who profess such devotion to the idea of a woman's being in every way a pal and an equal tell me that they still like the girl who expects to be treated like a lady and not merely a smaller and less robust man.

Not at fidelity, actually and idealistically, there was a strict observance of the respect due a lady. There was little mockishness in our manners, for we were a plain people, not far removed from pioneer days. But a lady was a lady and, as such, demanded a respect that only the very crudest ones failed to observe.

The few who treated women as if they were men were soon put into their places, for plain, crude manners refused to tear down one of the permanent distinctions of humanity. We all liked tomboys, and still do. But a tomboy, then and now, is merely an exuberant girl who is not afraid to be a healthy animal, to climb trees, to wade in the muddy road, to play town ball with the boys, to help her brother yoke his calves, or even to chop or saw wood with Father or Brother.

Some of the Victorian ladies of fidelity lamented the coarseness of their daughters when they acted thus, but, somehow, the tomboys have had a way of living longer, more useful lives than some of the dainty Mamma's darlings that were afraid to be caught doing coarse work. But do not imagine that coarse labor made the woman less a lady in the eyes of the men of the fields.

To have been discourteous to a woman who was helping her family do the necessary farm work would have been doubly bad mannered, for a woman was still a woman, even in her toil, and the dignity of the toil itself created a sort of awe that only

GOOD HEALTH

1. WHAT ARE THE MAJOR TYPES OF HEART DISEASE?

3. ARE NIGHT-SWEATS IN CHILDREN SERIOUS?

Answer to Question No. 1:

There are many types of heart disease. Ninety per cent of all heart patients suffer from one of three types of the disease—rheumatic, hypertensive and coronary. Children between 5 and 15 are the chief victims of rheumatic fever which damages the heart valves and causes rheumatic heart disease. Hypertension, or high blood pressure, causes the heart to enlarge and puts a damaging strain on the heart and arteries. This usually attacks middle-aged people. Coronary heart disease is caused by arteriosclerosis or hardening of the arteries and is most common among old people.

Answer to Question No. 2:

Hoarseness is usually due to an inflammation of the vocal cords. On rare occasions it is caused by

As a middle-aged wisecracker, then, I would like to warn young people, if any read this column, that it is still wholesome and encouraging to find good manners among people, that publicly there is no other way to judge strangers or chance acquaintances.

When women are treated in every way just like men, I want to be on some other planet, with no telescope to look back on this one.

DEMOCRATS FLOCK TO CAMPAIGN MEET

Underwood Predicts Victory In November

Between twelve and fifteen hundred voters from all sections of the state flocked into Louisville last week when Kentucky Democrats opened their 1952 campaign headquarters at the Seelbach Hotel.

Led by Senator Tom Underwood, who tops the Kentucky ticket, visitors included Governor Lawrence Wetherby, Senator Earle C. Clements, Lieutenant Governor Emerson Beauchamp, Representative Garrett Withers of the Second Congressional District, Representative John Watts of the Sixth Congressional District, signed the register and greeted party workers.

Senator Underwood, back from a congressional trip to Switzerland, reported to his Kentucky constituents that the Marshall plan and the program of collective security "have greatly reduced the threat of war."

He also told a group of tobacco growers at Democratic Headquarters that his investigation of conditions in West Germany indicate "bright prospects for continuing German imports of Kentucky tobacco."

The Lexington editor also predicted a Democratic victory in Kentucky in November and said that the ticket, including Presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, would carry every district in the state with the possible exception of the Eighth. Party leaders expressed pleasure at the opening day turn out. Clyde Watson, state campaign manager, said that the first day's stream of party workers and visitors excelled any similar turnout in recent years. He joined with Senator Underwood in predicting a 100,000

Answer to Question No. 3:

As a rule, night-sweats in children are not serious. They are usually due to an over-heated room and to too many bed-covers. If the night-sweats persist despite proper room temperature and proper covering and if the child seems usually healthy, by all means consult your family doctor.

City Absorbing Growth Well, Article Reveals

Paducah and Paduchians are taking the expansion caused by the new atomic energy plant being built there in their stride, and the city is absorbing the growth well, according to the feature story in the fall in Kentucky magazine that appears this week.

The story compares Paducah of two years ago with the city of today and notes that although it is much busier, more crowded and considerably different most citizens seem to like changes brought by the new plant.

SHORTHORN CATTLE SALE IS SEPT. 25

Paducah, Kentucky, because of its central location and facilities, has again been chosen as the site of the annual Mid-America Shorthorn sale. Shorthorn breeders from Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, and Tennessee will send consignments to this event to be held Thursday, September 25, at the Carson Park Fairgrounds.

Thomas S. Waller, Paducah, attorney and president of the Kentucky Shorthorn Breeder's Association, reports that this year's sale offering is shaping up to be the best in the three year history of this event.

"It should be an excellent time to buy," he reports. "Pastures are burned and winter feed is short. This means a lot of cattle that normally would be held as replacements will be consigned. It also means that a lot of people who are usually in the market will be waiting. The best time to buy is when others are laying back."

Sixteen bulls and 25 females will be sold by auctioneer J. E. Halsey, Des Moines, Iowa. Consignments from Western Kentucky are being made by Chas. M. Meacham, Jr. & Sons, Morgantown; Norman & Waller, Morgantown; Thomas S. Waller, Paducah; and Henderson Gill, Russellville.

In the 1951 sale eleven bulls averaged $510 and twenty-four females $471. The cattle were sold to breeders from a wide area, many going into Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Alabama.

Some of our American businessmen are failing to do their part to preserve the Free Enterprise system. They probably talk more - and do less - than anyone else. From what they say, you'd think they invented Free Enterprise; in fact, you'd think they owned it.

I refer to the type of businessman who fails to live up to the obligations that the Free Enterprise system imposes on all businessmen.

What are these obligations? What are the things businessmen must do, if Free Enterprise is to be perpetuated and strengthened?

Business's responsibility begins in employe relations. All businesses must remember that an employe is a fellow man, and not a commodity or a machine.

It is business's responsibility to pay as high a wage as good management will allow; to provide pleasant, healthy working conditions; to consider the future welfare of employes by offering protection against sickness and accident, by life insurance and by some type of retirement plan.

Business also has a responsibility to its customers. It has a duty to honestly try to give the best product for the lowest price. That is the essence of free enterprise at work, and unless this responsibility is met, free enterprise is not working to the people's advantage.

In the majority of cases, competition forces business to do just this, (which is a good reason to keep competition alive!) But in some other cases, supposed competitors put their heads together to limit competition and keep prices up. Every time they do this, they are weakening our whole American system.

The responsibilities of businessmen also go beyond employes and product. They go into the very life of the community. Every business pays taxes for the general welfare, but as a member of the community it has a duty to improve local conditions; to sponsor civic programs; and to give support to community activities.

Our businessmen - as champions of free enterprise - must show their willingness and ability to meet social problems. A "let George do it" attitude toward welfare problems, is to invite the government to play George.

Men are happiest when they do not NEED to turn to the government. But business must never forget that the socialist planners gained ground ONLY when the friends of free enterprise failed in their responsibility to the people.

Dawson Announces Fire Week Plans

At a meeting of fire chiefs from Fulton, Mayfield, Murray, Martin and Union City which was held in Union City last Wednesday night, plans were made for the Fire Prevention Week parade that will be staged in these five cities.

Fire Prevention Week begins Monday, October 6 and local Fire Chief W. T. Dawson announces the following schedule of parades:

Monday, October 6 - The Fulton Fire Department will go to Union City and take one piece of fire equipment. Rex Ruddle will be the driver; Bill Alexander and Marco Wood will go with the truck.

October 8 - The Fire Prevention Parade will be at Fulton. Glenn Rice will be the driver.

New Quonset Dries Grain Nature's Way

This addition to the well-known line of Quonset buildings, the All-Purpose Granary, points up the fact that not all round buildings are Quonsets with the new observation that not all Quonsets are round.

Among several features as new as its lines, this all-steel structure has double walls for self-ventilation and provisions for drying and cooling grain Nature's way by unheated air. Fan and tunnel units for this are available as optional equipment. The basic building unit is 16 ft. wide, 12 ft. long. Length may be increased by any number of 8 ft. units.

Fan and tunnel accessories for drying and cooling grain in storage are removable, enabling the building's use for many other purposes when not filled with grain.

Drying Cost Low

Drying and cooling are accomplished by a "down-flow" circulation of unheated air, sketched at left. Cost of this drying operation is only about 3 cents a bushel. Necessity for "turning" grain in storage is eliminated by cooling.

When using the building for these purposes, grain is piled over the tunnel to a 6 1/2-ft. depth as the structure is filled. When the fan is operated, air is pulled into the building through its openings down through the grain. Carrying moisture picked up from the grain, the air flows out through the tunnel.

Fan Runs 20-60 Days

At harvest time, the fan is operated continuously for an initial period until the grain's moisture content is brought down to a safe level for storage. This requires from 20 to 60 days, depending upon moisture content of grain and local weather. Thereafter, the fan is operated occasionally on cool days and nights in order to reduce grain temperature to the lowest possible point for winter storage.

In event grain temperature rises abnormally thereafter, any heating due to excess moisture may be reduced by further fan operation. Under normal conditions this will be unnecessary if drying was done properly at harvest time.

Top sketch shows flow of unheated air from louvers and side-wall openings for grain drying and cooling in Quonset Granary. Lower sketch shows how removable tunnel and fan are installed.

POWER STEERING on the Roadmaster and Super

BENEATH that big broad bonnet is the reason for this headline.

It's a four-barreled automatic carburetor—Airpower by name—which has a way of gulping in what the dictionary defines as "a sudden blast of wind" when extra power is needed.

And the way this gorgeous performer can step out as this occurs is something you'll always remember.

For ordinary driving, two barrels are all you need—and two barrels are all that are working. They give you an extra thrifty flow of fuel for round-town cruising.

When extra power is wanted in a hurry—the "reserves" swing into action—feeding extra fuel and extra air in an ever-thrifty mixture, which delivers the greatest horsepower in Buick history.

This is one of many distinctions that endear ROADMASTERS to fine-car owners.

It's a car as rich in finish as it is in power—a car of expansive room—restful silence—level in gait—beautifully responsive to your mood and will.

And it offers the effortless ease of Power Steering* especially engineered by Buick to save your strength in

A HELPING HAND

By Martha White

Easy Way to Flour Chicken

So many products these days come in rice plastic bags of various sizes that have a lot of fine re-uses. I store my summer shoes away in such bags, closing them with rubber band to keep out the dust and dirt. One excellent kitchen use for a good sized plastic bag is for flouring chicken. Instead of using the old bowl method and getting your hands all covered with flour, try this the next time. Put self-rising flour in a plastic bag, and season it with salt and pepper according to your tastes. Just add the chicken pieces, already cut up, fasten at the top, and shake vigorously. Your chicken will be all ready to pop into the hot frying pan. Save the flour in the bag to make your gravy.

Hot biscuits made from easy to use self-rising flour will be the perfect accompaniment to America's favorite meal. And self-rising flour is good for making gravy, too. When the chicken is fried and the gravy made, take this tip for cleaning the pan. Instead of trying to wash it immediately, loosen the cooked-on crumbs by soaking for about half an hour in cold warm-water. You'll find it so much easier to wash when you are ready. And dry by putting back over the flame for just a minute. This keeps those stains from your good dish towels.

Any Gramahs—

(Continued from Page One) good land and some personal property. He wouldn't tell anybody about his relations. His farm will be sold to the state if no heirs is found. He don't owe nothing against his place. I have lived on his place for 5 years. So if you can check back to 1913 to 1916 you may find someone. Please do what you can and let me know as soon as possible. I am enclosing some papers that he got over there. So awaiting your answer I remain,

Yours truly,
JOHN FLANNAGAN.

The papers referred to above are a release from D. L. Toombs showing that Vaughn's lease on the Graham estate has been paid. It is written on Toombs' letter as follows:

D. L. TOOMBS.
Merchant and Planter
Shipping Point & Express Office
Birdie, Miss.
Feb. 22, 1919.

This is to certify that A. M. Vaughn has this day paid in full to D. L. Toombs $828.00 with 6 per cent interest from June 4, 1916, to date; this amount was transferred to me from the James F. Graham Estate. He also transfers to me in this settlement, his lease on Graham Place in Quitman County, Miss., all farming implements, corn and etc., free of debt, and is to give possession within ten days of this agreement.

To whom it may concern: That one blue mule name Joe 8 years old, one bay mare mule name Lue about 7 years old; one Studebaker wagon and harness. The above is paid for in full and I guarantee title in same. I have this day written the chancery clerk at Quitman county, Miss., authorizing him to satisfy his records, against Mr. Vaughn for the above described property. (Signed): D. L. Toombs.

Witnesses: A. W. Rhoades. Another paper was receipt for a bale of cotton sold to Dockery & Donaldson. The bale weighed 548-lbs., was received on Nov. 5, 1915, and was sold Jan. 14, 1916, for 13 1/2c per lb., bringing $73.98, with deducts of $4.68, netting $69.30. The sale was credited to the account of the Graham estate.

The other paper was a tax receipt to A. M. Vaughn issued on Jan. 31, 1914, for road taxes, $6.50, from D. S. Smith, Sheriff, by J. M. Whitley, Deputy.

Another letter from Arkansas about the dead Mr. Vaughn was as follows:

Monroe, Ark.
Aug. 8, 1952.

Dear Sheriff: Just a word to see if I could find anything of this man, A. M. Vaughn's people. He died at my house Mon. night, and has no people as he ever told me about. And I found an old lease where he had made at Birdie, Miss., in 1915. The lease was from F. Graham, and has some real estate and wish if you could help in any way to locate any of his people.

Thanks,
NEWT MCCOY

Any one in Quitman County having any recollections of this or elsewhere having any recollections of this man Vaughn, or any of his heirs at law are requested to get in touch with the sheriff's office at Marks.
